SKATEBOARD

"I already broke this one last week [after the photo shoot], and I broke my pelvis and dislocated my hip at the same time. Depending on how much I'm skating, my boards last anywhere between three days to a month. This one was my custom Emergency Black Label deck. I got three models with them. This is my favorite, but the graphics are pretty much team graphics. It's kinda like, if you're in a band, wearing your own band shirt, it just looks dumb. I feel the same way about my skateboard. I like checkered team graphics, so I'll just have my guy put those on, even though it doesn't help promote what model I have out. I'd rather just promote the team than my name."

SHIRT

"I took one of my striped shirts that had stains on it, and stuck it inside one of my jean jackets, and one of the guys from Silver Star Clothing took pictures of it, and we put it together. I just thought it would be a cool idea. I'm a thrift-store kid from way back. I've been collecting clothes since I was a little kid and I've got three full-sized closets full of fucking clothes. But a lot of times I just put on the same clothes I had on yesterday. Sometimes you just wanna stay dirty."

"Clash is my son. He passed away a couple years ago. I have about a billion hats, but I wear this one the most. It's my favorite hat."

SUNGLASSES

"These are Tres Noir. They're my signature glasses. I wear glasses all the time, except when I'm skating, 'cause I sweat, and they fog up and it's annoying."

WATCH

"This is Vestal. I'm sponsored by them, too. A lot of companies have approached me [to be an endorsee] that I've turned down. There's a lot of cheap companies. I'd rather sponsor something that's got quality and longevity; products that I care about. It kind of goes with my personality."

BELT BUCKLES

"These are both Silver Star. They were a jewelry and accessories company that started out with belt buckles and stuff like that and just moved on. I usually wear the two of these together."

JEANS

"I had these custom made. Just know one thing: You'll never see me in bell-bottoms. And remember, bell-bottoms and creepers don't go together. People mix that up."

SNEAKERS

"These are my new Draven Dragsters. I got a bunch of different pairs of shoes with Draven."
